Beyond The Ring.

The International Sport Union Boxing Foundation (ISU) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization. The following pages allow you to directly support the governing body for ISU Boxing, unleashing hidden talents in dedicated Fighters. With your support, we are setting our young athletes, regardless of their background, on a path to a better future beyond the ring.

WE BELIEVE:

IN EMBRACING OUR DEEP
ROOTS IN AMERICAN SOCIETY

The Foundation embraces boxing’s deep roots in American society. We proudly represent and offer opportunities to every demographic in this country. Boxing is a sport that is relatable and accessible to all.

BOXING IS THE SPORT OF EQUITY

Our community has the lowest economic and educational representation of all the U.S. Olympic sports. We offer equal opportunities for everyone.

IN THE IMPACT AND SUPPORT OF OUR COMMUNITY

Unlike most countries that receive government support for their Olympic sports and athletes, in the U.S., we do not. ISU Boxing athletes rely heavily on Community support to pursue hope and opportunity.

BOXING IS A SPORT THAT REQUIRES RESILIENCE,
FOCUS AND DISCIPLINE

Our seasoned coaches teach respect and confidence before First jab or punch is thrown and follows a strict code of conduct that creates a controlled environment and positive atmosphere for channeling aggression and anger into a force for good.

IN SUPPORTING OUR ATHLETES’ HOPES FOR SOMETHING BIGGER

Whether it is a scholarship, the search for a better life, or a dream to stand on the Olympic Podium one day, we support our athletes' hopes for something bigger.

Ken Arutyunyan
CEO and Head Coach
International Sports Union

Email: Ken.ISU411@aol.com

Ken Arutyunyan is a promoter, manager, and trainer born in Yerevan, Armenia. Ken studied wrestling, boxing, judo, sambo, and san shou during his adolescent and teenage years. He assisted promoters in promoting a show called 'Shoot Boxing' in Japan while his students competed in the Tokyo Dome multiple times. Ken is a master of the art and primarily teaches boxing, ensuring his students remain injury-free and helping them become champions.

In 1992, Ken Arutyunyan became the first person to promote Draka, Russian, for free sparring, for amateur and professional rules. He collaborated with the California Athletic Commissioner to establish the rules for mixed martial arts and introduced the new sport in the US. This paved the way for the first-ever mixed martial fight between the USA and Russia on June 27th, 1992, at the UNLV Bren Center in Irvine, California. The event received national recognition, with Ken Arutyunyan serving as the Coach and Manager of the Russian team, while Ruben Urquidez managed the American team.

In 2016, two of Ken's students, Ferdinand Kerobian and Vardges Vardanyan, qualified for the USA national team's group of eight. Ken organized five of the most significant fighting shows in the Great Western Forum, while others took place at the Olympic Auditorium and Occidental College. He has promoted shows worldwide, including Russia, Armenia, and Kyrgyzstan.

The International Sport Union is recognized by respected organizations such as the California Athletic Commission, the USA Boxing Federation, the USA Wrestling Organization, and the California District Officials.

Dan Moses

Manager and Partner
International Sports Union

Email: ISU.DanMoses@gmail.com

Dan Moses, Partner at ISU and Ken's student. I was born and raised in Los Angeles, CA. I've been working at my older brother's gym, at Moses Fitness, under his mentorship for 8 years; mentoring in Bodybuilding, nutrition coaching, programming, powerlifting, skiing, and rock climbing are all at advanced levels. I then joined and graduated from NHI, a massage therapy school, graduating as a licensed massage therapist. I have been working since I was 16, starting as a janitor and helping hand, slowly moving up over the years to manage the business. I acquired the necessary skills to work with Ken, with whom I am now honored to be in business as his business manager and spokesman.

My father, Rick Moses, is a world-famous actor in shows like General Hospital or Young Daniel Boone and was a regular on the Mike Abrams show. He introduced my family and me to boxing, a practice in my family thanks to him. My brother Adam Moses is also a student of Ken and is an acclaimed film director and producer.

As a youth, my father taught me how to box, but I never had access to a coach dedicated to the art. I have been to different classes, but none are comparable to ISU. The quality of sportsmanship and coaching is unparalleled at any other facility and is a community pillar. You can see it when you join, which made me invest in the partnership.

I found ISU and met Ken; it was something I heard of by word of mouth by many in my community. When I started training with Ken, I was instantly humbled by the truth of being a fighter. He trained me privately and in a class setting for only a year and a half before I could go toe to toe with professional fighters who wanted to teach me instead of breaking me.

As a student of Ken, I have put in the hours and listened to his coaching. If you come to ISU, you're ready to transform into the most confident version of yourself and create the discipline your life needs. If you can get through a session, you can get through your day. All the coaches here will build you up and teach you to stay injury-free.
